VW AMAROK UNDERBODY PROTECTION

VW's Amarok is an excellent vehicle, but it needs underbody protection. TJM has a purpose-designed protection plate that's just the ticket.

The TJM protection plate is pressed in 3mm-thick steel that's strategically folded to increase deformation strength and electro-coated – not just powder-coated – for maximum corrosion resistance.

The plate attaches to the Amarok frame via fasteners with recessed heads, so they can't be damaged by rocks.

Drain holes are let into the plate, to avoid debris build-up on the upper surface and to provide ventilation around the sump and transmission.
