

NEWS - Small Range Rover confirmed for production

Land Rover has confirmed that a production version of the LRX concept car will be built.

The new car will join the Range Rover line-up in 2011.

Designed and engineered at Land Rover's state of the art Gaydon facility, the new Range Rover will be the smallest, lightest and most efficient vehicle the company has ever produced.